About Me

At the age of 23, I have two major passions in life: photography and fitness. When I'm not busy with a camera capturing beautiful moments, I spend my time in the gym to maintain fitness and health. For me, photography is a way to capture stories, while the gym is a place to release stress and maintain life balance. I can't just sit idle when there's no work; I feel very bored when I'm not doing anything.
